

Abstract

The present invention relates to a system and a method for performing sales transactions using a virtual sales agent.